Comments
Going over game theory examples and going over the homework once getting it back.
He was very clear about explaining concepts and worked through them a few times.
The example questions that help me learn better
He always offered office hours and space for questions in every class
The slides shows were very clear and a useful tool for reviewing material independently.
Going over the material in more detail especially with the homework as it was a way to see where I'd gone wrong after putting the content into practice.
Providing examples of complex topics, especially math related problems. Seeing it worked out on the board was extremely helpful.
Being able to work on different examples for game theory
I loved my TA, he was very good at explaining difficult concepts.
well organized presentation slides and instructor kept us attentive through good eye contact and whiteboard demonstrations of the concepts

If you could suggest one thing to improve the recitation, what would it be?

Comments
Not his fault, but allowing online submissions for HW
Nothing
N/A
I wouldn't change anything.
Having different examples that are more complicated to reflect what we would have on an exam. And making sure that the slides are up to date since some of the slides are old.
I like the structure now, the extra mini lecture style is beneficial.

Alper approach to recitation, being open to our questions and employing a communicative environment, allowed me to learn complex topics introduced in lecture. Further he was always available for office hours, emails, and meeting after class. He is extremely knowledgeable without making the topics over complicated.
